

I am very disturbed about the changes you are proposing. It may well be time to revise the rules, but consolidation of media in fewer hands has frightening implications for our democratic system. Makes me wonder if the FCC has come to see itself as a bulwark against robust democracy.